Quad Burner Option for Element4

The brand new Quad Burner system by Element4 features five separate burners and four flames settings. Now more than ever, you have complete control over your gas fireplace.

The Quad Burners are available for all 140 fireplaces.

"This is a truly innovative burner in the world of gas fires. If you turn on all five burners, you get an impressive flame spread over the entire width of the fireplace. However, if you require less heat, switching to two or three burners will reduce the flame output without completely sacrificing flame height."

- Jan Kempers

Glass Safety Barrier (GSB) for Element4

An alternative to the InvisiMesh screen is our Glass Safety Barrier \(GSB\) system. With this option, air is vented between two glass layers reducing the heat of the outermost pane. Hot air travels up the chase and is then efficiently distributed into the room, so no heat is lost. This clean and stylish look maximizes the trimless modern lines of your fireplace.

Advantages:

- Clean, trimless lines.
- Glass barrier stays warm to the touch, but won't burn.
- Great serviceability (easy to access fans).
- Great option for commercial projects.

The GSB is made to order and is available for 95, 140, 100, 185 & 240 models.

Landscape Series Fire Media for Element4

Design has long been influenced by nature. For our latest curated fire media mixes we looked into landscapes, near and far, for guidance. These new landscape media choices are in addition to the standard Element4 fire media we offer.

J Series Corner Style Outdoor Fireplace

There's nothing wrong with a classic. In many ways, the J Series outdoor fireplace is the new American classic. The new J Series Corner puts a twist on outdoor patio design.

J Series Corner Style outdoor fireplace: created with a thick gage of stainless steel and vent free flexibility.

New Interiors for Element4 Fireplaces

In keeping on the forefront of design and style, we now offer two new types of interior panels for Element4 fireplaces. These panels offer a refreshing change from the typical black fireplace interiors that have been around for years. Break out of the norm and go industrial with stylish Concrete Style, or create a twist on traditional with Rustic Brick.

Concrete Style

Available for all Element4 models.*

Rustic Brick

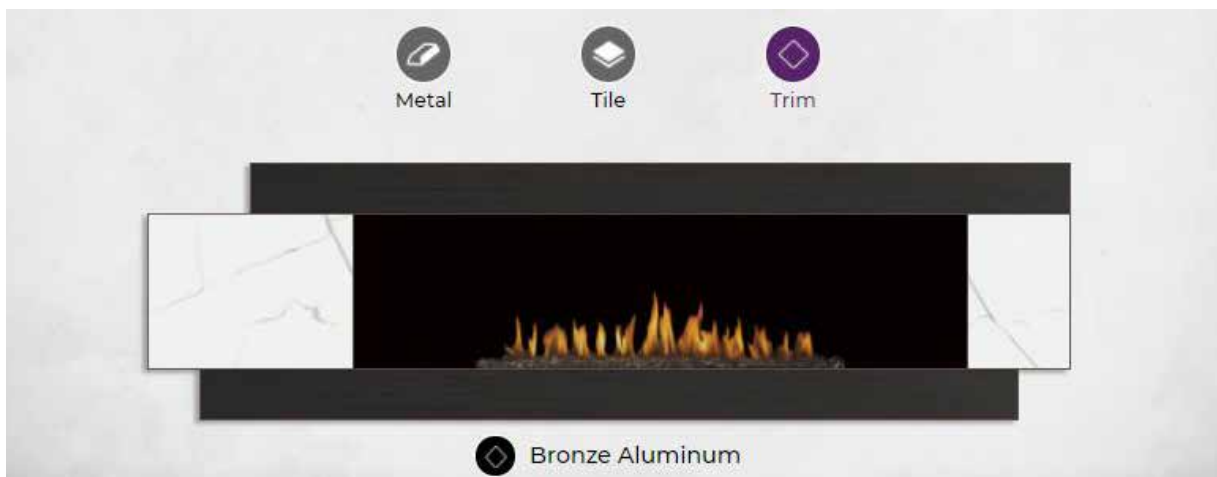

Available for 75H and 100H models.

Not available for the Optica, Bioptica & 360.*
